AT PATTERSON, KAN.*CYCLONE SWEEPED OVER A WIDE DISTRICT.

Houses Flattened Out and People Die
Where They Stand—Ten Known to Have Met Death and Many More
Are Injured—Drive Engineer Save
Many People's Lives.

Hutchinson, Kan., May 2.—A frightful cyclone struck near the little town of Patterson, twenty miles east of here, at 4:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and as a result ten persons are dead, twenty-five injured, twenty houses razed, and many barns and buildings destroyed and cattle, horses and hogs killed. The dead:

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM
CHAPIN, "GRANDMA."
SCHMIDT, JOHN.
SCHMIDT, MRS.
SCHMIDT, DORA.
SCHMIDT, FRANZ.
WEAR, MRS. JOSEPH, and a 5-month-old babe.
WEAR, GRACE.
WEAR, HERMAN.
Seriously injured:
Armstrong, Mrs. William.
Frizzell, Mrs. J. R., fatally.
Frye, Mrs. J., internally.
Stickney, Jacob.
Weir, Joseph, can not recover.
And twenty others more or less.

All the afternoon a strong wind had been blowing from the southwest when a fresh gale from the southeast sprang up. The storm traveled in a northeasterly direction and for sixteen miles left death and ruin in its path. The storm first struck the residence of the Widow Frye and reduced it to kindling wood. Mrs. Frye was badly injured internally and can not recover. The next houses struck were those of Jacob Solinski and John Sultzbach, but no one was killed, though the houses were badly wrecked. The fine home of Joseph Wear, a wealthy farmer, was next reached by the storm and four deaths resulted. Mr. Wear was in his orchard when the storm struck and by clinging to a tree escaped death, but was so badly injured he can not live. Mrs. Wear was killed, together with three children, Grace, 12 years of age, Herman, 5 years, and a babe. Alice Wear, 10 years, and a boy escaped by taking refuge in the cellar. Across the road was the fine residence of Joe Wear's father, which was demolished, but the family escaped by taking refuge in the cellar.

The house of D. E. Frizzell was blown down. Mrs. Frizzell and child were in the building, but escaped with slight injuries. Across the road was the house of J. R. Frizzell, which met the fate of all in the path of the tornado. Mrs. Frizzell was so badly injured she can not recover. The house of William White was damaged, but no one was injured. The house of William Morris was torn to pieces, and he was injured. An old lady known as "Grandma" Chapin was killed instantly.

At the house of John Schmidt are the dead bodies of the entire family—father, mother, son and daughter. The small house was wiped out in the twinkling of an eye. Here the fury of the storm seemed to have concentrated itself, and shortly afterward rose, leaving the earth, but carrying debris for many miles.

Cyrus Hermon's house was demolished and H. Hermon was severely injured. William Armstrong's house was blown down and he was killed. His wife was seriously injured.

From this point the cyclone traveled north, striking the house of A. S. Parnell, wrecking it, and the house of Spencer Ray. The large house of J. A. Cummins was swept away and Mrs. Cummins injured. Meno Hedges' house was destroyed, but the family escaped with a few bruises.

A schoolhouse stood in the path of the storm, but a farmer living near saw the storm coming and took the children to an open field out of its path. The house was destroyed, but the children were not touched.

The cyclone crossed the Santa Fe railroad between Halstead and Burton, carrying away a quarter of a mile of telegraph wire, leaving not a vestige of poles.

The presence of mind of a railroad engineer saved a trainload of people. A west-bound through Pacific express had left Halstead when the engineer saw the twister coming from the south. He stopped the train and ran back. After events showed that the train would surely have been wrecked had he proceeded. In the track of the storm sixteen miles long and from 100 to 500 yards wide is nothing but wreckage. Every barn, outbuilding, pig pen, and hen house is gone. Trees were blown up by their roots and stripped of their leaves. Dead horses, cattle, and hogs lie everywhere. J. R. Frizzell lost fifteen head of fat cattle in one lot. The path of the storm was through a rich farming community and most of the buildings were of a substantial character.

Hourly Fear the Summons of Death.

Washington, May 2.—While the friends of Representative Hitt are hopeful he may recover from his illness, at the home of the distinguished Illinoisian this feeling does not manifest itself. The physicians have told the family they must be prepared for the worst, and Mr. Hitt himself fully realizes his dangerous condition. Consequently he has put his affairs in order so that he can take matters as calmly as possible under the circumstances. At a late hour last night, however, there was a slight improvement in Mr. Hitt's condition.

Big Increase in the Public Debt.

Washington, May 2.—The monthly public debt statement issued by the treasury department yesterday shows the debt of the United States less cash in the treasury to be $917,839,903, an increase for the month of $9,109,557. The cash balance in the treasury to-day is $182,917,916.

TO MOVE AGAINST INDIANS.

Three Hundred Redskins Are Prepared to Resist Attempts at Arrest.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 2.—United States Marshal Cronan, with a large force of deputies, armed to the teeth, will go to St. Johns to-day to arrest the Indians accused of stealing government wood. Three hundred Indians are assembled near St. Johns preparing to resist the arrest of any of their number. They say fear of the Almighty God is the only thing that keeps them from wiping out every white person on the land. They burned the residence of one government witness Tuesday. The whites are becoming alarmed. A number of women and children have moved here. The male portion of the population, well provided with firearms, takes relays in watching the homes at night.

Fargo, N. D., May 2.—Attorney General Olney asked Judge Thomas of the United States court for his opinion of the Indian trouble. The judge replied it would do no good to send a posse of deputies to arrest the half-breeds, as it would way to treat the matter was to send United States troops. Citizens of Rolla and St. John have been writing Gov. Allen to call out the militia, but the chief executive seems to regard the trouble as one which the United States government should settle. The half-breeds are all armed with rifles, but are said not to have much ammunition.

JAPAN CRISIS IS NEAR.

Must Answer the Demands of Russia by Tuesday Next.

Tokio, Japan, May 2.—Japan must give her final answer to Russia by May 7. The suspense and anxiety are terrible. When mediation by the United States was being discussed last November by the authorities at Washington and Tokio President Cleveland prophesied a league of European powers to deprive Japan of the fruits of victory. Thereafter the powers were carefully notified of the Japanese intentions. No opposition to them was ever manifested. The blow was reserved until the treaty of peace had been signed. Viscount Mutsu, the minister of foreign affairs and Premier Ito's colleague in the peace conference, is desperately ill.

Pekin, May 2.—No decision has yet been reached in regard to the ratification of the treaty of peace. Li Hung Chang, the senior Chinese peace envoy, has arrived here and been given an audience by the emperor, but what action was agreed upon, if any, is a court secret. No edict has yet been published concerning the result of the deliberations.

Force Will Be Employed.

Bluefield, W. Va., May 2.—The strike is on in the West Virginia coal fields along the Norfolk & Western railroad. Not a mine is in operation. A meeting of 15,000 miners met at Keystone yesterday to organize perfect measures to induce or force the Pocahontas, Va., men to join the strike. In the event of a refusal to join the strike force doubtless will be attempted, and both sides are determined. The West Virginia miners are swarming into Virginia on every train and the situation is alarming. Bloodshed will only be averted by caution and conciliation. An outbreak may occur at any time. The strike is understood to be practically to adjust railroad rates on shipments.

Judge Jackson Opposes Income Tax.

Washington, May 2.—The general impression here concerning Judge Jackson's share in the coming consideration of the income tax matter in the supreme court has been that he would be among the judges favorable to the tax, and that if the court were to grant a rehearing he would be found among the majority sustaining the law on the final decision. Judge Jackson's neighbors say he is opposed to the present income tax and that his reappearance on the bench will mean the decisive overruling of the law, unless counsel can produce some more convincing arguments than any which were laid before the court at its late hearing or than he has himself met with anywhere or thought out.

Durrant Held for Murder.

San Francisco, Cal., May 2.—The inquest on the body of Blanche Lamont occupied less than three hours yesterday, but the evidence developed was considered convincing, and the jury returned a verdict charging Theodore Durrant with the murder. The police and district attorney are confident of a conviction, stating that they did not put in nearly all of their case at the inquest.

Avenge His Daughter.

Washington, Ind., May 2.—About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, near Alfordsville, a village ten miles southeast of this city, David Grismore shot and fatally wounded a young man named Sherman Allen. Grismore is 61 years of age and claims that Allen is the cause of his daughter's downfall. About 9 o'clock Grismore came to this city and gave himself up to Sheriff Leming and is now in jail.

Col. Colt to Be Tried.

Cincinnati, O., May 2.—Colonel A. B. Colt was indicted for manslaughter at Washington Court House on account of the five persons killed during the riot last October. A change of venue was allowed to Circleville and the trial set for May 13. Yesterday the trial was postponed to June 10 on account of other engagements of Judge Nash and other counsel.

Takes Part for "Sound Money."

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—The Commercial club has decided to send delegates to the "sound money" convention at Memphis. On account of the opposition manifested by a majority of the members of the Merchants' exchange, that organization will not be represented at the convention. Congressman Patterson of Tennessee is expected here soon to induce other commercial bodies to send delegates to the convention.

ENGINEER KILLED
BY BOLD ROBBERS*MASKED MEN ATTACK AN ALTON TRAIN IN ILLINOIS.

Fired On and Slew Frank Holmes, the Engineer While He Stood at the Throttle Near Carlinville—Revenge-
ful Thugs Attack a Hotel Clerk
Who Betrayed Them.

Bloomington, Ill., May 2.—The St. Louis & Chicago express, due here at 2 a. m., was held up by robbers half a mile north of Carlinville, Macoupin county, last night. Three men boarded the locomotive and ordered the engineer, Frank Holmes of this city, to hold up his hands. He refused, and was shot and instantly killed. Three shots were fired. All the robbers were caught and jailed at Carlinville. No one else was hurt.

Holmes was aged about 42, and was known as one of the most daring and successful engineers in the West. He was a son of Judge Holmes, who was one of the pioneer lawyers of Bloomington. Holmes was connected with the Alton road for a quarter of a century. He leaves a wife, whom he recently married here, and a son by a former marriage.

The murderers climbed upon the blind baggage car, supposedly at Carlinville. From there they climbed over the tender and ordered Engineer Frank Holmes to stop the train and immediately began firing. Holmes was killed at the first fire. Fireman Frank Tuggle then ran the train back to Carlinville. It is not known whether robbery was intended or not. Engineer Holmes in the morning when going south at Carlinville compelled some tramps to get off the train and also ran some tramps off that were burning cars on a "Y," and it is thought that some of these men are his murderers. Holmes' home is in Bloomington.

REVENGEFUL TRAIN ROBBER.

He Assassinate a Hotel Clerk Because His Plot Is Betrayed.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—Thomas Farrall, of St. Louis, one of the gang of Burlington train robbers who for a year have eluded capture, is a prisoner at the city hospital with two bullets through his lungs and will die. He received the fatal shots in a battle with Policemen Barry, Shea and Frans and ex-Sheriff Carson last night, after having first sent a bullet from his revolver through the body of Richard Rau, night clerk of the St. George hotel, mistaking Rau for William Haag, the proprietor, who had given General Manager W. C. Brown a tip that an attempt would be made to hold up the northbound Kansas City, St. Joe & Council Bluffs express soon after it left this city. The scene of the hold-up was to be in the identical spot of the robbery a year ago. The train was heavily guarded with officers armed with Winchester, but the robbers got wind of the trap and did not appear.

Last night at 7:20 Farrall and a pal who gives the name of Dan Howard entered the St. George hotel. Howard stepped back out of the door and Farrall advanced to the washroom, where Richard Rau, the clerk, was standing. "Take that," were the words spoken by Farrall as he shot Rau down. The bandit immediately discovered his mistake and ran out the door, revolver in hand. Officer Barry was standing a short distance away and called on the robbers to halt. Their answer was four shots in rapid succession, one of the balls striking Barry in the palm of the right hand and passing through, badly shattering the bones.

With his left hand Barry began shooting, but his aim was poor. Officers Frans and Shea and ex-Sheriff Carson joined in the pursuit, following the fugitives through a hundred yards and keeping up a rapid firing.

Farrall was finally brought down by a shot through the breast. He regained his feet and reached some willows, where he was again shot, and gave up only when he could no longer fight. Howard surrendered immediately after and is in the county jail. Rau, the night clerk, and Farrall, the robber, can live but a few hours.

Conflict in German Cabinet.

New York, May 2.—A cable dispatch to the Herald from Berlin says: "It seems certain that a conflict is impending between Chancellor von Hohenlohe and Baron von Koeller, minister of the Interior. Von Koeller's recent speeches, in which he denounced art and literature as subversive, have opened the eyes of the blindest of his supporters, while his opponents are naturally delighted with the minister's blunder."

In Schweinfurth's Behalf.

Rockford, Ill., May 2.—In the circuit court yesterday the attorneys for George Jacob Schweinfurth made a motion to quash the indictments against him, as well as against Mary Weldon and Margaret Teft Weldon, on various technical grounds. The motion to quash will be argued before Judge Shaw next Monday. The defense has also given notice of its intention to ask for a continuance until the next term of court.

Meeting of Miners' Association.

Nelsonville, O., May 2.—The coal miners throughout the Hocking Valley are all out, but it is believed the suspension will not continue more than a week. The first annual address of Michael Ratchford, state president of the Ohio miners' association, auxiliary to the United Mine Workers of America, met yesterday at 10 o'clock with Mr. Ratchford in the chair, but no business was done.

Report a Spanish Defeat.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 2.—Passengers on the steamer Olivette, from Havana, gave an account of a battle near Bayamo Monday between Maximo Gomez, in command of 2,000 men, and 3,000 Spanish troops commanded by Gen. Salcedo. The Spaniards, the passengers say, were repulsed with heavy losses, while the Cuban loss was small.

NICARAGUA'S TERMS
ARE SATISFACTORY*ENGLAND GIVES UP CORINTO AND CHANGES POSITION.

Will Insist, However, Upon a Satisfactory Guarantee That the Indemnity Will Be Paid—Nicaraguan
Press Bitter Against America—
What It Has Cost the Country.

Corinto, Nicaragua, via Paso de Caballos, May 2.—The British warships have changed position again. It is understood they will leave upon receiving from Managua a promise to pay the indemnity. The ships had been stationed so as to command the bridges over the lagoons in order to guard the armed force on shore against surprise by the Nicaraguan troops on the main land, as it was reported an attempt would be made to regain possession of the town. Rear Admiral Stephenson has wired home asking for further instructions. He says that the concessions made by England indicate a peaceful solution of the trouble has been reached.

GIVE THE GUARANTEE.

No Question But That the Money Will Be Secured.

Washington, May 2.—The guaranty of the payment by Nicaragua of the indemnity as required by Great Britain will be made in the amplest manner possible, so that there appears to be no further obstacle between the two countries as to a final adjustment. The guaranty will be in one of several forms, as follows:

1. The promise of the Nicaraguan government, which, in view of the fact that the government has never defaulted on its obligations, is of itself regarded as a guaranty.
2. The Bank of Nicaragua, a national institution with recognized standing in London, will, if need be, give the guaranty.
3. The republic of Guatemala, one of the richest of the Central American states, stands ready to deposit $150,000 in a London bank if Nicaragua desires the favor.
4. The Nicaragua Canal company, whose word in London would be acceptable in the highest financial circles, will give either a guaranty or the cash if need be.

What It Has Cost Nicaragua.

Washington, May 2.—The withdrawal of the troops from Corinto and the departure of the fleet not only end all questions of British territorial extension in Nicaragua, but also put at rest the fears entertained that the control of the Nicaragua Canal route would be seriously affected by the proximity of British forces. The affair has cost Nicaragua more than the original $77,500. It was necessary to raise 3,000 extra troops at a cost of $2,000 per day. The abandonment of Corinto as a custom port has also resulted in much loss. The disturbance to business and commerce is a loss which can not be measured in dollars.

Press Blames America.

Managua, May 2.—The leading paper here blames President Cleveland for having, it says, surrendered Nicaragua to England. It is predicted sooner or later Great Britain will control Central America. Its next step, it is said, will be against Honduras. The reported concessions by England are not favorably received by the public. England's action will do much toward bringing about the much talked of Central American union. It is semi-officially said Honduras and Salvador will open their ports for Nicaraguan imports, waiving the duties collected in favor of Nicaragua.

Affairs Practically Settled.

London, May 2.—In spite of the statement which had emanated from the foreign office saying that there had been no change in the attitude of Great Britain toward Nicaragua, it is learned that Great Britain has agreed to the proposed settlement of the dispute with Nicaragua if the payment of the indemnity is guaranteed. In this case the British fleet will immediately withdraw from Corinto. It is not known what guaranty Great Britain demands for the payment of the indemnity, but it is believed in official circles that the affair is practically settled.

Revolt May Follow Submission.

Colon, Colombia, May 2.—It is reported here from San Juan del Sur there is every probability of a revolution breaking out in Nicaragua if the government of that republic yields to the demands of Great Britain. If the present government of Nicaragua falls it is contended it will not be possible to adjust the claims of Great Britain and it may probably provoke an armed conflict.

30,000 MEN ARE OUT.

Ohio Miners Decide to Take a Spring Vacation.

Massillon, O., May 2.—Work was suspended yesterday by the 30,000 Ohio miners and will not be resumed until a scale for one year is made and signed. The suspension is complete in Massillon district, but will not be respected if the unorganized miners continue at work. The first annual address of Michael Ratchford, state president of the Ohio miners, was issued yesterday. Practically he advises the Ohio miners to insist upon an increase over the present scale of 60 cents.

New York, May 2.—Gen. John Newton, president of the Panama Railway Company, died this morning. He was one of the most brilliant and successful of American engineers.

Duke of Orleans Very Ill.

Seville, May 2.—The condition of the Duke of Orleans, who broke his leg on Friday last while out hunting, is serious. A slight attack of pneumonia is complicating matters.

HELD FOR THRUSH'S DEATH.

Big Sensation Expected in a Wisconsin Murder Case.

Ashland, Wis., May 2.—The Martin Thrush suicide case has developed into one of the most cold-blooded murders ever committed in Northern Wisconsin. Two suspects were arrested last evening. They are the murdered man's wife and a friend, Casper Emery. In her story Mrs. Thrush claimed her husband shot himself, but two other witnesses who were in the house swear they heard no shots, but heard the sound only of a falling body. A blood-covered chisel and hammer were discovered after searching the house thoroughly. Casper Emery is supposed to have been engaged to the young lady who was staying with Mr. and Mrs. Thrush, and the theory that connects him with the crime is that he called to see her after having left the house Sunday night, making his entrance through the back door, and Thrush was aroused by the noise. Mrs. Thrush is held because of her insisting that her husband shot himself when no shots were heard.

Judge's Heart Is Softened.

St. Louis, Mo., May 2.—In the United States district court Judge Priest sentenced Ira G. Cook to four years in the Missouri penitentiary for counterfeiting. Judge Priest at first gave Cook seven years. Cook said that he had two little girls and his mother was also living. He drew from his pocket a letter from one of the girls and handed it to the judge. The girl is 10 years old and wrote that she hoped her father would soon be with them and said she and her little sister were going to write to the court to let their papa come home. Judge Priest read the letter and told Cook that his sentence was reduced to four years.

Yellow Fever Aids Cubans.

New York, May 2.—A Herald correspondent at Nassau, New Providence, says: "News has been received from Santiago, Cuba, that the ravages of yellow fever, on which the insurgents rely to aid them in securing independence, are already apparent in the ranks of the Spanish forces. Many of the soldiers are daily dropping out of the ranks, victims of the disease. Physicians here predict that this will be the worst yellow fever season for many years. The rainy season will soon begin. Then the roads will become impassable even for the infantry."

Hoke Smith Not for Silver.

Macon, Ga., May 2.—Secretary Hoke Smith was interviewed here yesterday on the question of free coinage of silver. He designates the 16 to 1 men as silver monometalists, holding that their demand must make silver the only metal coined, as no one will bring gold to the mint to be coined when $1 of gold will buy $2 of silver. He takes a decided stand against the demands of the silver men. "I have no doubt," Mr. Smith says, "that the next President of the United States will be opposed to the unlimited coinage of silver at 16 to 1."

Democrats to Declare for Silver.

Washington, May 2.—Senator Jones of Arkansas, one of the members of the United States delegation to the proposed international monetary conference, has returned to Washington. He says he knows of no progress making toward the holding of such a conference and in an interview expressed the opinion that the next democratic national platform would declare unequivocally for free coinage of silver independent of action by other nations and that the republican platform would declare in favor of bimetalism and an international agreement.

One Trimmers Win at Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., May 2.—After a day of excitement the one trimmers won the second round in their contest with the bosses yesterday. At 4:30 Capt. Brock of the Alcona appeared with a telegram from the Ohio & Pennsylvania Coal Company, directing him to put the men at work regardless of the contracting bosses. The men at once went to work. This is regarded as a complete knock-out for the bosses.

Blood May Flow at Pocahontas.

Richmond, Va., May 2.—It is probable a part of the Virginia military will be sent to Pocahontas, where trouble may occur as the result of the strike of coal miners. The Richmond Howitzers were ordered to assemble at their armory, and it looks very much as if they were being held to send off to Pocahontas, where everything is quiet at present. In the event force is used to compel the men there to strike the citizens will join the miners in resisting.

Robbers Raid a Postoffice.

Chicago, May 2.—The Evanston post-office was raided by robbers last night. They knocked the combination off the safe door and bored a hole in the steel plates. Their evident intention to use explosives on the door was interrupted for some unknown reason, and the burglars fled. They secured no booty. The police are searching for clues that will lead to the discovery of the burglars.

Sheboygan, May 2.—The strike among the tanners at this place has extended to the C. L. Roentitz Leather Company's plant, and is getting more serious. Two hundred men quit work at that plant. A twenty per cent raise is demanded, and the employers today offered a ten per cent advance, but it was refused.

Fire at Black River Falls.

Black River Falls, May 2.—Fire destroyed $7000 worth of hardwood lumber in the S. B. Mills yard this morning. There is an insurance of $3,000 on the property.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

Chicago Merchant Brought Before the Senate for Contempt.

Springfield, Ill., May 2.—The unique spectacle of a citizen on trial for contempt before the state senate for refusing to gossip about his private affairs with a parcel of legislators was presented in the capitol yesterday. Frank H. Cooper, vice-president of Siegel, Cooper & Co. of Chicago, appeared before the bar of the senate to explain why he declined to answer questions put to him by Senator Salomon's department store investigating committee. For over an hour he posed as a prisoner at the bar, while the senate wrangled over the question of whether or not he should be sent to jail for contempt. The senate adjourned without taking final action, although the events of the session plainly indicate that Mr. Cooper will emerge from the strange fight victorious.

Senator Craig's bill amending the law concerning special assessments payable by installments, providing that special assessment bonds are redeemable before maturity, which came up as a special order on second reading, was on his motion made a special order for to-day on the same reading, along with Senator Coon's bill concerning local improvements, which is on the same subject. Mr. Aspinwall's pool selling bill was postponed for a week at his request. Mr. Bogardus' bill providing for treatment of habitual drunkards was advanced to third reading.

The house passed the senate bill introduced by Senator Crawford, regulating elevated and street railroads. Representative Berry from committee on rules reported back the senate joint resolution that when the general assembly adjourns May 3 it stand adjourned sine die, with an amendment changing the date to May 24. The amendment was lost and the resolution was recommended to the committee on rules.

Mr. Needles called up on the third reading Mr. Payne's bill to establish the Illinois Western Hospital for the Insane. The bill was passed without opposition. As amended on second reading it provides for an appropriation of $100,000 to establish the new institution, which is to be located at some point north or west of the Illinois river.

The measures known here as the Crawford elevated and street railroad bills were passed by the house and sent to the senate for concurrence in amendments. This action probably will be taken to-day or early next week.

NO BAIL FOR GORDON.

Young Brown's Remains Taken to Henderson, Ky.—Mrs. Gordon Buried.

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—Tuesday's tragedy continues the all-absorbing topic. Brown's remains have been taken to Henderson, Ky., his old home. The governor, his wife, two daughters and John Young Brown accompanied the body. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. Gordon was buried in Cave Hill cemetery at 11 o'clock.

Fulton Gordon was present in court this morning. His attorneys demanded an immediate trial, which was then refused. They then asked for bail, but Judge Smith said that it was not a bailable offense. The case was then set for trial Saturday next at 9 o'clock.

Were Not at Their Posts.

Lowestoft, England, May 2.—The coroner's jury which has been investigating the cause of the sinking of the North German Lloyd steamship Elbe after a collision early in the morning of Jan. 30 returned a verdict of gross negligence upon the part of the mate and look-out man of the British steamer Crathie, which ran into and sank the Elbe. In spite of this, owing to the absence of evidence from the survivors of the Elbe, the jury found that there was not sufficient proof that the Crathie was solely to blame for the collision, and on the question of standing by the rule of the road the jury exonerated Capt. Gordon, commander of the Crathie, from all blame.

Mrs. Parnell Is Worse.

Bordentown, N. J., May 2.—Mrs. Parnell's condition has changed for the worse. At noon yesterday she was mentally duller and well-nigh unconscious. Her daughter, Miss Annie Parnell, arrived from Ireland last evening. Mrs. Parnell recognized her daughter when she reached her bedside.

For Free Silver.

Monmouth, Ill., May 2.—Free silver has captured the Warren county Democratic bag and baggage. At a convention yesterday it was decided to hold the county convention May 25 to select delegates to the state convention. All will be silver men.

RIVER MAY HIDE F. GEIGER'S BODY

DID THE MISSING STUDENT COMMIT SUICIDE?

North Main Street People Connect His Disappearance With a Queer Acting Man Who Patrolled the Railroad Bridge and the Large Splash That Was Soon Heard.

Is Frank Gieger, the missing student of the school of telegraphy at the bottom of Rock river?

North Main street people think it likely that he is.

The story told by Louis Trambie, 261 North Main street, and Thomas Coyne, engineer at the A. C. Kent factory, is the foundation for this statement. Mr. Trambie lives at the corner of North Main and Fifth streets, a few rods below the railway bridge, and Mr. Coyne resides in the next house north. On Monday evening, between 8 and 9 o'clock, the two gentlemen were in their back yards conversing together.

"While we were talking," says Mr. Trambie, "we heard a heavy splash in the water, and noticed by the dim light of the moon a heavy ripple on the water, out between the second and third piers of the bridge. I spoke to Mr. Coyne, and asked, 'What is that?' We both thought it was the water barrel which had fallen off, but the next morning I noticed the barrel was still in its place. While the splash in the water was still in my mind, I let it pass, and did not think much more about it, until I read the Gazette last night, about Frank Gieger's disappearance, and it struck me at once that Gieger might have jumped off the bridge, and made the splash in the water we heard on Monday night. I spoke to my wife about it last evening, after reading the Gazette, and she told me that on Monday evening, just before dark, she saw a man walking on the railway bridge and acting rather strangely, which attracted her attention. The man was out about the center of the bridge, and walked a short distance and then turned around and walked back, keeping this up until dark, he apparently being in a deep study. I believe that man is in the river, and that he jumped from the railway bridge Monday night about 8:30 o'clock. You just wait a day or two and see if the body is not found there. Mr. Coyne confirms Mr. Trambie's statement in every particular, and also says he believes that Gieger jumped from the bridge and was drowned."

A LYCEUM MEMBER GOT DRUNK

One of the Clinton Society Debated with King Alcohol.

Evidently the Clinton Lyceum brought the black sheep of the society with them when they came to Janesville to debate with the Rusk Lyceum on the silver question, for the Clinton Herald prints the following card:

"The report having been circulated here that a large number of our party were under the influence of liquor, while in Janesville last Friday evening, we wish to announce that it is a fact only in regard to one single member, and that he was promptly expelled from the Lyceum on Monday."

"We regret the necessity of this publication, but deem it no more than justice to the large number who went and conducted themselves as ladies and gentlemen should."

C. B. SMITH, President Lyceum.

BUTTER IS SCARCE AND HIGH.

Rock County Creameries Send Their Butter to Eastern Cities.

Good butter is very light at present. It is worth twenty-one cents, and scarce at that. For some time past Janesville grocers have been receiving their butter from Reedsburg, Waukegan and Lodi. Very little is brought in from the country for the reason that the farmers sell all their milk to the different creameries and are even buying their own butter. The different creameries all have contracts with commission merchants in Chicago and the eastern cities who receive all their butter the year round. The grocers are at present selling butter at twenty and twenty-one cents, which costs them nineteen cents at wholesale.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant. 40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

THE MEANING OF IT.

We are pushing sales at your own price on anything we own, simply to reduce our indebtedness. Price cuts no figure. We owe some more than we care to owe and we have loads of property, so we are holding a liquidation sale, and you who do business with us now reap the benefit.

If you want a home or a homestead, if you want to buy on speculation, our office is the place, and you will make a mistake if you invest a shilling elsewhere.

One of our customers said to us yesterday: "The little fellows have been after me thicker than flies, but you showed me more bargains in an hour than they all put together have shown after days of time spent." We own most of our property and make prices no one else can touch. Remember we are not after profit now. We want customers and sales.

Yours very truly,

April 24—Mrs. Timotny E. Green, Janesville, aged seventy-nine years.

SUPERINTENDENT PEASE Praised

Madison Paper Compliments Him On a Speech at That City.

Superintendent Lynn S. Pease of the state school for the blind at Janesville, addressed the Young Men's club of the Congregational church of Madison and a large number of interested listeners on the work of the state for the blind. A local paper says of the lecture:

"Mr. Pease is a polished talker as well as a most excellent superintendent, and his familiarity of the subject, as shown in his talk, was in keeping with his fatherly care of the unfortunate in his charge. The care of the blind is a most interesting subject and none are better capable of an explanation than Mr. Pease."

NEW INSURANCE LAW DOESN'T JUST SUIT

SOME COMPANIES MAY LEAVE THE FIELD.

However, One Adjustor Owns Up That If He Was Preparing a Law to Cover All Interests That He Would Do About the Same Thing—Accident Fees.

The new standard fire insurance policy required for companies doing business in Wisconsin, according to the law enacted by the recent legislature, is provoking wide discussion among insurance men, and many of them are disposed to denounce it. One company has written its agent that it is quite likely some of the companies will not continue to do business in Wisconsin under the adverse regulations of the new standard policy.

It is believed, however, that closer examination of the law and its effect will convince conservative people, even insurance men, that it is a wise measure, and this belief is borne out by a letter just received by Insurance Commissioner Fricke from one of the largest and most substantial fire insurance adjusters in the country, who was ready at first glance to jump to the conclusion reached by many others, but who has changed his views on further examination. He says:

"My first impression was to raise a battalion of honest, valiant men and go up into the Badger state and hunt out the members of the legislature and bring them to punishment, but on thinking the matter over more calmly and examining more critically the language of the amendments in their proper relation to the policy, I found that the changes made were in no very great sense alarming; in fact there has been a great deal of cry without a great deal of wool. Upon the whole I am under the impression that if I had been appointed to formulate a policy, not as an insurance man but as a person representing all interests, that I should have reached about the same conclusion that the Wisconsin legislature did in that respect."

There will be fewer assessment life and accident insurance companies doing business in Wisconsin hereafter. The license and authority of all such corporations, societies, orders and associations expired yesterday under chapter 175 laws of 1895, and it will be necessary for all such companies, orders or societies desiring a renewal of license to apply to the commissioner of insurance for a certificate of authority and furnish the certificates, etc., required by the new law to be deposited with the department. All foreign companies of this class will hereafter be required to pay an annual license fee of $25, except that societies and orders that now have a state grand lodge or state council in Wisconsin shall be exempt from fees for renewal of license.

BOWER CITY NEWS NOTES.

Not a shoddy shoe or back number in our Fond du Lac stock. This is without doubt the cleanest stock in the state. 60 cents on the dollar. That's the price we paid. It does not now stand us over 30 cents. Don't you think we are prepared to sell goods at 50 cents on the dollar of their actual wholesale cost? Becker & Woodruff.

SUCH an onslaught was never known before in the history of the town. People come in from twenty-five miles around to take advantage of our Fond du Lac stock. $12,000 of it and $18,000 of our own at 60 cents on the dollar. Our reputation stands behind every pair of shoes we sell. No juggling of prices here. Becker & Woodruff.

A. C. MUNGER the grocer on North Main street, received a carload of rocking chairs yesterday, and is selling at $3 each. They are the same chair that retails at $5 each. One person in Janesville paid $5 each for five of them before these came to Munger, and thought they were cheap.

Just when we think the last customer is out of the store and we can rest a few minutes, here come some more and we go to work again. Not a minute in the day that we are not busy fitting shoes, at 60 cents on the dollar. Oh! We propose to keep the shoe business just slightly warm this summer. Becker & Woodruff.

Don't be worried. We have plenty of shoes for all; had $30,000 worth last Saturday; when they are gone, will have more for you. Our bargains will not cease this summer, $30,000 worth of shoes being sacrificed. All high grade goods and guaranteed. Becker & Woodruff.

Dr. J. P. THORNE, a physician of great experience and ability, has located in the city, and will have his office in the Tallman block, opposite the postoffice. Dr. Thorne comes from Amboy, Ill., and will no doubt meet with a warm reception in Janesville.

Crowds, crowds, every hour. We know nothing else now, and we will see to it that shoes will be cheap all summer long. This is no one day sale but one year. Open every night but Tuesday and Friday night. Becker & Woodruff.

WELL, we have something else for tomorrow: some more French satines came to us yesterday, the 25 cent kind, and we propose to put them out at 14 cents. Bort, Bailey & Co.

REAL good makes of shoes were never before known in the town at such low prices as we are making. Now we save you 50 cents on the dollar. Becker & Woodruff.

WHILE you are cleaning house you want a bottle of "dead stuck." Will get away with all bugs and roaches. Every bottle guaranteed or money refunded. Dunn Bros.

No such shoes as we are selling are offered in the town, have not been out of the factory over two months. Save you 60 cents on the dollar. Lloyd & Son.

THE figures we quote in our large advertisement today should be proof enough that we sell cheap. Every shoe warranted. Lloyd & Son.

REGULAR 25 cent French satines, all kinds, we will have a special sale on, commencing tomorrow at 14 cents a yard. Bort, Bailey & Co.

If you want good shoes cheap, come and see us. If you want poor shoes at a big price we don't keep those. Lloyd & Son.

WE have the best line of shoes from $1.50 to $3 in the city, because we are cutting the prices all to pieces. Lloyd & Son.

CALLING or wedding cards, a very fine assortment, all the newest things at F. C. Cook & Co's.

WE have a fine line of ladies' oxfords in tan and black, all shades and styles. Lloyd & Son.

UNION MAY PARTY A GREAT SUCCESS

DANCING AT THE ARMORY WAS MUCH ENJOYED.

Brotherhoods of Engineers and Firemen Entertain Their Friends Most Pleasantly—Superintendent and Mr. Aller Celebrate the Anniversary of the Removal of the County Buildings.

EW social events have been given in Janesville this season that were as much enjoyed as was the fourth annual May party of the Brotherhoods of Engineers and Firemen.

of Engineers and Firemen at the armory last night. Pretty decorations and perfection in the arrangement line made the affair complete, while the exceptionally fine music furnished by Smith's orchestra added zest to the pleasures of the dance. "Welcome," in large letters was the hospitable design wrought in evergreens, that first greeted the eye of the guest, while "All B. L. E. and B. L. F." was displayed over the entrance. A large paper bell, with a jack o' lantern for a clapper, was suspended from the ceiling and bunting and flowers made the decorations complete. The party itself was all that could be desired and was greatly enjoyed by all who attended, including a number of visitors from other towns. The committees in charge were as follows:

Floor—Engineers—D. Mahoney, chairman; A. Talmage, C. D. Stearns, R. J. Lewis. Firemen—Wm. Tallman, chairman; J. Carney, Charles Sidmore, Grant Smith.

Arrangement—Engineers—J. W. Walker, chairman; H. Brazzel, H. L. Nickols. Firemen—I. W. Hager, chairman; W. H. Brown, J. Murphy.

Reception—Engineers—F. C. McLean and wife, John Roberts and wife, J. E. Kay and wife, John Crowley and wife, George J. Nichols and wife, J. J. Nelson and wife. Firemen—A. E. Hager and wife, Thomas Hagney and wife, James Morris and wife, George W. Allen and wife, R. H. Eardmen and wife, Bert White and wife.

CELEBRATION AT THE POOR FARM.

Superintendent and Mrs. Aller Celebrate The Removal From Johnstown.

Superintendent and Mrs. Peter Aller and family, of the Rock County Poor Farm and Insane asylum celebrated the first anniversary of the removal of the institution from Johnstown, yesterday afternoon and last evening. All the patients were taken out in the new grove presented by the county and last evening a dancing party was given for their benefit for which Tuckwood's orchestra furnished the music.

Incidentally Miss Axtell sang a solo and Miss Stella Tuckwood gave a recitation and the affair was much enjoyed. Refreshments were served during the evening, and the pleasures lasted until an early hour this morning.

BABY CONTEST OPEN BALLOTS IN DEMAND

THE CONTEST.

Five Shares of Stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association Will be Given the Winner June 1—Value at Maturity Is $500 and It Is Non Assessable.

The polls for The Gazette contest for the babies is now open and the ballot will be found at the close of this article and will run until June 1, when the contest will close. Much interest is centered in The Gazette's offer to present the baby who gets the highest number of votes with $500 worth of stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association. It is a prize worth getting, for naturally it will be worth just half a thousand dollars. That will be a nice nest egg if kept at interest after maturity until the child becomes old enough to want to use it.

It will buy an education.
It will buy a building lot.
It will buy a piano and the lessons necessary to play upon it.
It is more than many people are able to save in a life time.

Of course all the mothers and fathers want it for their babe. How to get it is told below:

The polls opened this morning and will remain open until June 1. The baby that receives the most ballots in that time will receive a certificate calling for these five shares of stock. There are no dues to be paid, no assessments to be met, no installments to provide for. The stock stands for $500 in cash and on its maturity, which will be in nine and one-third years, the money will be ready. The prize is a handsome one—it is well worth winning and the conditions of the ballot are as follows:

From March 1 until June 1, a coupon will be printed in each issue of The Gazette.

Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

Out the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Only one person can be voted on one ballot.

The baby who receives the largest number of votes will receive five shares of stock in the Rock County Building & Savings Association, cash value, $500 at maturity.

The contest will close June 1 at 9 p. m., and the stock will be delivered as soon as the count of votes is completed.

Any non-subscriber who will subscribe for The Gazette and pay in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

No votes can be transferred from one candidate to another after being registered in this office.

Candidates must not be more than three years of age March 1, 1895, and must live in Janesville.

THE BALLOT.

The Publishers of "The Janesville Gazette" will give 5 Shares of stock in the Rock County Building, Loan & Savings Association to the Baby who receives the largest number of ballots.

An athletic caper of this sort would scarcely be considered indecorous in one, even of mature age and sedate habits, impelled thereto by excess of joy on recovering his digestion through the instrumentality of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, foremost among remedies for dyspepsia, biliousness and constipation, a trio of evils usually found in conjunction with each other. As the stomach recovers its tone, and the gastric juices are secreted in healthful plenty through the agency of this superb restorative, nerve tranquility, appetite and sleep return, the body gains in substance and the muscles in vigor. For the prevention and cure of malarious, rheumatic and kidney trouble the Bitters is a most direct and thoroughgoing medicinal agent. Its effects are speedily felt and comprehensive.

DU MAURIER'S MISTAKE.

Refused a Royalty for His Book and Lost Big Money.

Du Maurier never dreamed that he had written a book which had only to be printed to set the whole English speaking world a-prattling of it. "Peter Ibbetson" had been well received, but there was nothing extraordinary in its success; and as he is one of the most modest men in the world of art and letters, he did not flatter himself that he had written a novel which would capture the public. He did not expect large sales. But there is where he failed to take his cue from his publishers. It is an odd thing he did not realize that when a publisher voluntarily offers 20 per cent royalty, the best thing an author can do is to accept and thank fortune. To be sure, Du Maurier had not a long experience in authorship, yet, on the other hand, he has many friends among authors, and has associated with authors all his life, and one would think he might have known something of the ins and outs of publishing practice; might have known, for instance, that 10 per cent is, for some mysterious reason, the ordinary royalty, and that 15 per cent is for some more mysterious reason, regarded as a very liberal, not to say generous, and that 20 per cent is—well, it is a publisher's confession that he has a good thing and knows it. If George Du Maurier had reasoned thus, he would by this time have received, at a minimum estimate, say $30,000 for his American royalties, or at the maximum, $50,000. Perhaps more. You can figure it out. But what he has really received is $5,000. He rejected Harper's offer for £700 for several rights and 20 per cent royalties for the book rights. He said: "No; give me £1,000 down and you may have the thing for America!" Naturally Harper's accepted this proposition. And now Du Maurier acknowledges with extreme good nature that he has picked his own pocket, nay, thrown away a snug fortune. Happily the arrangement for book rights did not include the British market. Du Maurier receives from his London publishers a royalty on "Trilby." But, then, the British sales of "Trilby" do not compare in extent with the American.

Japanese War Pictures.

The war between China and Japan has introduced some new features into Japanese art. Up to now the war pictures of chrysanthemum land have portrayed wild-looking Samurai wielding enormous two-handed swords and breathing slaughter with infinity of detail, but valiant disregard of perspective. But since the war broke out and the brand-new army of the mikado has shown what it really is worth, the military artists have abandoned flying robes and the swords and trappings of old Japan for a delightful mixture of Europe and the far east. The faces of the sailors, especially when they are clean shaven, are the facts of the warriors we have seen on many a vase and fan, but the dress is different. The jacket, shirt and trousers of the Frank have given new lines to the artist's pencil, and instead of the two-handed sword he has to draw the European great gun, and lingers lovingly over every bolt and cog with all the ardor of his detail-loving soul. European caps, European dirks, European decorations, and above all, European field glasses are fondly insisted upon, especially the glasses, which the Japanese have imported by thousands and served out even to the privates in the fine regiments. But it speaks volumes for the versatility and adaptability of the Japanese that they all—artists, sailors and soldiers—have taken to the weapons and new modes of fighting with such marvelous quickness.—London Graphic.

PAPER INFLATION.

Some one recently asked the New York Tribune, "What is meant by free coinage of silver?"

The Tribune's reply is well worth careful thought:

"It means that any holder of an ounce of standard silver, which now happens to be worth a shade less than sixty-seven cents, may take it to any government mint and receive for it $1.29 in silver coin. A mine owner taking to the mint 10,000 ounces of silver, worth $6,700, would receive for it $12,925 silver dollars, weighing something over half a ton. He would not want the dollars, so the government would lay them away with the $369,000,000 now in vaults, that nobody wants, and give to the mine owner silver certificates for $6,235 more than his silver bullion is worth. This process would go on until the country would be flooded with a paper currency that cost the man who originally bought it fifty cents on the dollar."

The argument is a good one, and any unprejudiced mind of ordinary intelligence should be able to trace results.

The basic value of all property is gold. During the panic a year ago, many people in this country refused to lend money except on paper payable in gold, while foreign capital invariably demanded it. Some of the men who are clamoring for free silver today, were equally conservative.

Suppose it were possible to turn loose the flood gates of all the silver mines in the country, and say to them bring in your 67 cent silver and receive $1.29 in currency, how long would values be maintained? Gold that is being handled now simply through fear of some such lunacy, would go up faster than oil has done for the past thirty days and the business of the country would be bankrupt in less than six months. The silver belt of this country belongs to the far west, the same as the wheat belt belongs to the northwest; there would be just as much sense in the government saying to the silver men, raise all the 50 cent silver you can and bring it to our mill, and we will pay you a dollar for it, as there would be to say to the farmer, raise all the 50 cent wheat you can and our mill will grind it for you, and if you don't want to take it home in barrels, we will store it and give you wheat certificates worth twice as much as the wheat.

Everybody who had any business sense would go to raising wheat, and if he couldn't raise it, he would join a syndicate and import it and in less than two years this country would have more flour than it could sell in ten years. Who would make the money out of it? The men that raised it, and handled it. Who would lose? The people who had to use it. If an effort was made to unload the stuff on foreign countries, it would be worth the price of foreign flour just the same as American silver today is worth the price of foreign bullion. There would come a day of reckoning and when the wheat certificates came in they would be worth the price of wheat. If that happened to be 50 cents, the people who compose and support the government would be obliged to stand the loss.

The honor of America will never submit to a financial policy of this sort.

LOOMS ARE SILENT AND WILL STAY SO

COTTON COMPANY SAY THEY CANNOT PAY MORE.

A Director States That They Were
Contemplating Shutting Down Any Way When the Water Got Low
Enough So That they Had to Use
Steam.

Not a wheel turned in the Janesville cotton mills today, and unless all indications fail, the looms will not hum again this summer.

The directors held a meeting last evening to consider the situation, and it was decided that the present state of the market would not warrant an advance in wages, and therefore it was determined to shut down the factories. In conversation with a Gazette reporter today, one of the directors said:

"We have had the matter of wages under consideration for some time, but with the market in the hands of the buyers, we cannot see how we can advance wages when the employees are already getting every cent of margin there is in the business. We determined some time ago that we would shut down just as soon as the water quit running over the dam, or as soon as the low water compelled us to burn coal. I am positive that our help was receiving better wages than most of the employees in eastern factories. Eastern factories are loaded down with manufactured goods, which they are putting on the market at ruinous prices; prices with which small factories like ours cannot compete, and factories in the south are reducing wages. It may be true that some of the eastern factories have made advances, but they have made several cuts and are paying lower wages than we are. I think think the mills here have shut down for an indefinite period. There is no money in running at the present state of the market."

This director, who has a large interest in the company, also stated, that he did not believe any of the employees outside the "mule rooms" were dissatisfied, but all were, for some reason, drawn into the strike.

SECRETARY PERCE, of the Arrow Cycling club, 131 received notice to be ready to receive twenty-five of the University boys, who will be here to attend the club party on May 10. The boys will leave the next day for Beloit, where the University base ball club play the Beloit college nine.

Did you forget something? It might have been a pair of those razor toe shoes that Brown Bros. & Lincoln are having such a run on at $2 a pair, or a pair of those comfort serge slippers at 25 cents. You better chalk it down next time, just what you want and where you are going to buy it.

BERT CLARK, a former Janesville athlete, is now training with the Edgerton fire department team. Edgerton has one of the fastest foot hose teams in the state, having won the honors twice in succession, and are now training for the state tournament.

GREATER and greater our sales are every day. No use trying to deny the fact that we are simply cutting the life out of the shoe business, but why not? The people appreciate it and we can save you 50 or 60 cents on every dollar and leave a nice profit. Becker & Woodruff.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY WIND AND RAIN

HIGH SCHOOL BELFRY AND CHIMNEY LEVELED.

Little Girl Slightly Hurt By a Flying Board—Boy Was Not Blown Into River—Telephone Wires Mixed Up—Cars Blown From the Side Tracks Trees and Glass Broken.

Janesville people, like Mr. Moody's Texas congregation, got more than they asked for today.

People had been praying for rain for days, but when it came busting on the bosom of a howling gale at 2 o'clock this afternoon, it caught people totally unawares. Signs were twisted about and rain fell in torrents. Then there came the hail—handful of it—and it rattled against the window panes merrily. Soon miniature rivers were rushing down the gutters and pedestrians hustled for cover. For fifteen minutes it rained as one fellow said, "like blazes," and then it stopped as suddenly as it had begun. Old Sol "pushed dem clouds away," and looked out. He saw trees and grass that had turned greener in half an hour, and pavements swept clean, while muddy rivulets hastened to join the turbid Rock.

Boy Not Drowned. Then came reports of the damage done.

"A boy has been blown from the Jackson street bridge and drowned," was the first message that came to The Gazette office on the telephone.

But it wasn't so. Roy Spicer, a young son of one of the Spicer Brothers, the machinists, had started to cross the "long bridge" walking behind a farmer's wagon, and when the center of the bridge was reached the storm broke.

In an instant the air was filled with hail stones and rain and the farmer couldn't see his hand before his face. He bent down his head and the tear-plunged wildly. When the land was reached the farmer looked around but no boy was in sight. He hastened to town with the news that the lad had been drowned and Chief Acheson hastened to the scene with grappling hooks. Mr. and Mrs. Spicer were greatly alarmed until they finally found the boy at the home of a neighbor. He had been whirled against the railing by the railing by the blast and his clothes had been nearly stripped from his back but he was uninjured.

High School Damaged. From the Jackson street bridge the storm center and the excitement shifted to the high school. A blast playfully ripped the wooden belfry from the roof and tossed it over the eaves. The heavy bell was rolled from its fastenings and thrown against the tall brick chimney. Then another blast struck the smoke conveyor and a crash followed as the brick shaft dissolved and fell in a heap on the roof. A flying piece of debris struck a little niece of Jaudier Benjamin Hilt on the head but she was not much hurt. The damage to the school building will not be very heavy, but the bell won't ring tomorrow.

Bill boards went down like "card houses," and many trees in various parts of town bent double and then gave way. The hail, too, was doing its damage, and many windows were broken, while cellars were filled by the flood.

Telephone Lines Mixed. When the storm was at its height a blinding flash of lightning and a crash of thunder seemed to fairly crack the dome of the universe. A streak of bluish flame shot into the central office of the telephone company, and a series of frightened screams came out. Although none of the operators were hurt, they were much frightened, for the bolt did considerable damage to the wires, etc. The linemen were hastily set to work to make repairs, but the damage was not very extensive and the system was not much crippled.

After "playing ball" with the phone wires, King Korras turned his decenter of wrath loose at the depots where there were a number of narrow escapes from serious wrecks. Two cabooses on the St. Paul line were blown out on the main track and were getting under good motion when a brakeman boarded one of the cars and set the brakes just in time to prevent a collision with an incoming freight train. Two passenger coaches in the Northwestern yard were blown over and considerably damaged.

Then the sun came out, and ten minutes later only the mud and broken trees, etc., indicated that anything unusual had occurred.

INSPECT THE COMPANY MAY 6. Light Infantry to Be Looked Over By Lieutenant Buck.

The Janesville Light Infantry will be inspected by Lieutenant William L. Buck, of the 13th regiment, United States army on Monday evening, May 6, and Company E of Beloit, on May 9. Perhaps this statement doesn't interest you particularly, but to many who have served their term of enlistment in the National Guard, this announcement will cause the blood to tingle in their veins, and they will recall the time when the official announcement of the annual inspection by some United States Army officer meant hours of hard work in getting their arms and equipments in condition, to say nothing of the preparatory drills. That Company A will do itself credit and add a few points to its record, goes without saying.

ALL ATTEND TONIGHT'S MEETING

Memorial Day Should Be Appropriately Commemorated in Janesville.

The public meeting called by Mayor Baines at the council chamber this evening to appoint a committee to arrange for Memorial day exercises, should be well attended. The appointment of such a committee is the right course to pursue. The members of the Grand Army of the Republic have already appointed a committee to act in conjunction with a citizens' committee, and at their request Mayor Baines called the citizens' meeting for this evening. Every one who takes an interest in this patriotic movement should attend the meeting and assist in forming a working committee, and arranging for memorial services that will be a credit to all.

SHOULDER BROKEN BY A BRONCHO

Ed. Schaumburger Hurt at the Farm of Thomas Little.

Ed. Schaumburger had his collar bone broken in two places while riding a broncho at the arm of Thomas Little. The animal was a rather vicious one and had only been ridden once, when Schaumburger got on and a dog took after the pony and the latter started on a wild-west run, throwing the rider headlong on the ground. He struck on his head, breaking his collar bone in two places, and forced both bones through the flesh. Schaumburger was at once brought to this city, and Dr. Henry Palmer dressed the injury.

SALOONS MAY BE FEWER SOON

Higher License Fee Said to Discourage Some of the Dealers.

Quite a falling off in the number of saloons is predicted by saloon men when the $500 license goes into effect. There are now fifty-five saloons in the city and it is said, however, that several of the proprietors are trying to sell out before the raise in fee takes effect, they claiming that they can hardly make expenses at a $500 license. Others insist that the number will not be materially decreased, but that the dealers will stay in the business and endeavor to make up the extra $500 by curtailing expenses, etc.

FISH ARE KILLED WITH CLUBS

Baskets Full of Bullheads Slain at Monterey Today.

A crowd gathered on the Monterey bridge this morning to witness a novel fishing scheme. Three young men stationed themselves in the water where it was but a foot deep, and as the fish came over the dam they were easily killed with a club. The result of an hours sport was a bushel basket full of bullheads that had been wintering in the creeks.

A BURLY EX-SLAVE FACES THE COURT

COLORED GIANT ARRAIGNED FOR ROBBING T. DUNPHY.

Gave His Name as William Bates and Said That He Was Born in Virginia "Befo' the Wah" and Was Once Sold At Auction—Jones Case Continued.

William Bates, a big burly ex-slave stood before the bar of the municipal court this morning and claimed that he meant no harm when he stole Thomas Dunphy's pocket book, and then hastened away to Milwaukee for the purpose of enjoying himself with his ill-gotten wealth. He is a giant in stature and the Cream City police soon recognized him from the description "a tall heavy negro wearing wool boots and a fur cap, cheap jacket and canvas overalls," and Officer Wallace Cochrane who went to Milwaukee after him brought him back last evening and lodged him in jail. This morning in the municipal court Bates waived examination and his trial was set for May 8.

The pocket book contained $25.75 when stolen and Bates says he left the book under a stone on Dunphy's farm. He spent $2 for a coat, and $4.50 for a watch and chain. When arrested he had $13.05 of the money left. Officer Cochrane learned where the watch was purchased and returned it, receiving three dollars in exchange. Consequently Mr. Dunphy will get back $16.05 of the $25.75 taken.

Bates is peculiar in many ways, and possesses many of the characteristics of the old plantation negro. He told a Gazette reporter this morning that he was born in Richmond, Virginia, "befo' de wah," and had been sold once as a slave. He said that his father and mother were both slaves at that time in Richmond, where they reside now. Bates does not know how old he is, but must have been quite small at the time of the war, as he does not appear to be over thirty-five or forty years old at this time. He spent last winter on a farm in Indiana, and finally worked his way here. He expressed much anxiety concerning his crime.

The case of the state against Charles Jones, of Porter, was called in the municipal court this morning, when it was again adjourned until September 2, for the purpose of awaiting further developments.

FIRE AT A. N. JONES' PLACE.

Rubbish Back of His Leaf Warehouse Became Ignited This Noon.

An incipient fire in the rear of A. N. Jones' tobacco warehouse, 49-51 North Main street, at noon today created a little excitement, and came near resulting in an alarm. Employees in Thoroughgood & Co's. box factory, discovered the smoke on leaving the factory for dinner and took one of the extinguishers from the factory and put out the fire, which was in a lot of rubbish piled up against the rear end of the tobacco warehouse. Had it been late in the night the chances are the fire would have been more serious.

THE DRY EXTRACT CO., Gentlemen:—

We value Milkine very highly. We had tried feeding our baby on milk and other food. She always seemed hungry and did not thrive at all. We were advised by a friend to try Milkine. This agreed with her perfectly. She is now growing and is strong and healthy. We believe Milkine to be superior to anything of the kind for children.

Yours respectfully, MRS. N. E. BIGLEY.

CITY PROPERTY

"He that hath a house to put his head in, has a good head piece."

That is what the jester said to King Lear after he had divided his domain between his daughters, when they, seeming to be void of all gratitude, turned their poor old father out into the cold world.

Surely the daughters of Janesville, would not be guilty of such an act, even if their fathers were to put the titles to houses in their names?

Look at our houses, take the title to yourself, and we would suggest that as an investment or saving fund for wife, daughters, or any one, we think our plan of selling houses affords an excellent chance of earning interest on the money you have invested, together with the Saving Fund feature of being able to pay something on account from time to time.

No trouble to talk over all plans with any one.

THE FINDING OF FINGALL

By GILBERT PARKER.

[Copyright, 1894, by the Author.]

"Fingall, Fingall! Oh, Fingall!" A gray mist was rising from the river, the sun was drinking it delightedly, the swift blue water showed underneath it, and the top of White Faced mountain peaked the mist by a hand length. The river brushed the banks like rustling silk, and the only other sound, very sharp and clear in the liquid monotone, was the crack of a woodpecker's beak on a hickory tree.

It was a sweet, fresh, autumn morning in Lonesome valley. Before night the deer would bellow reply to the hunters' rifles and the mountain goat call to its unknown gods, but now there were only the wild duck skimming the river and then rising and fading into the mist, the high hilltop, the sun and again that strange cry: "Fingall, oh, Fingall! Fingall!"

Two men, lounging at a fire on a ledge of the hills, raised their eyes to the mountain side beyond and above them, and one said presently:

"The second time! It's a woman's voice, Pierre!"

Pierre nodded and abstractedly stirred the coals dotted with a twig.

"Well, it is a pity—the poor Cynthie!" he said at last.

"It is a woman, then. You know her, Pierre—her story?"

"Fingall! Fingall! Fingall!"

Pierre raised his head toward the sound, then after a moment said:

"I know Fingall."

"And the woman? Tell me."

"And the girl. Fingall was such as Shon McGann, all fire and heart and devil may care. She—she was not beautiful, except in the eye, but that was like a flame of red and blue. Her hair, too, then, would trip her if it hung loose. That was all, except that she loved him too much. But women—et puis! When a woman gets a man between her and the heaven above and the earth beneath, and there comes the great hunger, what is the good? A man cannot understand, but he can see, and he can fear. What is the good? To play with life, that is not much, but to play with a soul is more than a thousand lives. Look at Cynthie."

He paused, and Lawless waited patiently. He knew Pierre well.

Presently Pierre went on.

"Fingall was gentle. He would take off his hat to a squaw. It made no difference what others did. He didn't think. It was like breathing to him. How can you tell the way things happen? Cynthie's father kept the tavern at St. Gabriel's Fork, over against the great sawmill. Fingall was foreman of a gang in the lumber yard. Cynthie had a brother—Fenn. Fenn was as bad as they make, but she loved him, and Fingall knew it well, while he hated the young skunk. The girl's eyes were like two little fireflies when Fingall was about, and what he thought of her he said to me once, 'They are the kind God made for the whole year round.' He was a gentleman, though he had only half a name—Fingall—likethat. I think he did not expect to stay. He seemed to be waiting for something, for always when the mail came in he would be there, and afterward you wouldn't see him for a time. So it seemed to me that he made up his mind to think nothing of Cynthie and to say nothing."

"Fingall, Fingall! Oh, Fingall!"

The strange, sweet, singing voice sounded nearer.

"She is coming this way, Pierre," said Lawless.

"I hope not to see her. What is the good?"

"Well, let us have the rest of the story."

"Her brother Fenn was in Fingall's gang. One day there was trouble. Fenn called Fingall a liar. The gang stopped piling. They expected the usual thing. It did not come. Fingall told him to leave the yard and they would settle some other time. That night there was a wicked thing. We were sitting in the barroom when we heard two shots and then a fall. We ran into the other room. There was Fenn on the floor dying. He lifted himself on his elbow, pointed at Fingall and fell back. The father of the boy stood white and still a few feet away. There was no pistol showing—none at all. The men closed in on Fingall now. He did not stir. He seemed to be thinking of something else. He had a puzzled, sorrowful look. The men roared round him, but he waved them back for a moment and looked first at the father, then at the son. I could not understand at first. Some one pulled a pistol out of Fingall's pocket and showed it. At that moment Cynthie came in. She gave a cry. I do not want to hear a cry like that often. She fell on her knees beside the boy and caught his head to her breast. Then, with a wild look, she asked who did it. They had just taken Fingall out into the barroom. They did not tell her his name, for they knew that she loved him.

"Father," she said all at once, "have you killed the man that killed Fenn?"

"The old man shook his head. There was a sick color in his face.

"Then I will kill him," she said.

"She laid her brother's head down and stood up. Some one put in her hand the pistol and told her it was the same that had killed Fenn. She took it and came with us. The old man stood still where he was. He was like stone. I looked at him for a minute and thought. Then I turned round and went to the barroom. The old man followed. Just as I got inside the door I saw the girl start back and her hand drop, for she saw that it was Fingall. He was looking at her very strange. It was the rule to empty the gun into a man who had been sentenced, and already Fingall had heard his 'God, have mercy!' The girl was to do it.

"Fingall said to her in a muffled voice, 'Fire, Cynthie!'

"I guessed what she would do. In a kind of a dream she raised the pistol up, up, up till I could see it was out of range of his head, and she fired. One, two, three, four, five! Fingall never moved a muscle, but the bullets spotted the wall at the side of his head. She paused after the five, but the arm was still held out, and her finger was on the trigger. She seemed to be in a dream. There were only six chambers in the gun, and of course one chamber was empty. Fenn had his bullet in his lungs, as we thought. Some one beside Cynthie touched her arm, pushing it down. But there was another shot, and this time, because of the push, the bullet lodged in Fingall's skull."

Pierre paused now, but waved with his hand toward the mist which now hung high up like a canopy between the hills.

"But," said Lawless, not heeding the scene, "what about that sixth bullet?"

"Mon Dieu, it is plain! Fingall did not fire the shot. His revolver was full, every chamber, when Cynthie first took it."

"Who killed the lad?"

"Can you not guess? There had been words between the father and the boy. Both had fierce blood. The father in a mad minute fired. The boy wanted revenge on Fingall, and to save his father laid it on the other. The old man? Well, I do not know whether he was coward or stupid or ashamed—he let Fingall take it."

"And Fingall took it to spare the girl, eh?"

"For the girl. He knew it wasn't good for her to think that her father killed his own son."

"And what came after?"

"The worst. That night the girl's father killed himself, and the two were buried in the same grave. Cynthie!"

"Fingall, Fingall! Oh, Fingall!"

"You hear? Yes, like that all the time as she sat on the floor, her hair about her like a cloud, and the dead bodies in the next room. She thought she had killed Fingall, and she knew now that he was innocent. The two were buried. Then we told her that Fingall was not dead. She used to come and sit outside the door and listen to his breathing and ask if he ever spoke of her. What was the good of lying in a corner.

ing? If we said he did, she'd have come in to him, and that would do no good, for he wasn't right in his mind. By and by we told her he was getting well, and then she didn't come, but staid at home, just saying his name over to herself. Alas, things take hold of a woman! It is so strange! When he was strong enough to go out, I went with him the first time. He was all thin and handsome as you can think, but he had no memory, and his eyes were like a child's. She saw him and came out to meet him. What does a woman care for the world when she loves altogether? Well, he just looked at her as if he'd never seen her before and passed by without a sign, though afterward there came trouble in his face. Three days later he was gone, no one knew where. That is two years ago. Ever since she has been looking for him."

"Is she mad?"

"Mad? It is not good to have one thing in the head all the time. What do you think? So much all at once. And then—"

"Hush, Pierre! There she is!" Lawless said, pointing to a ledge of rock not far away.

The girl stood looking out across the valley, a weird, rapt look in her face, her hair falling loose, a staff like a shepherd's crook in one hand, the other over her eyes, as she slowly looked from point to point of the horizon. The two watched her without speaking. Presently she saw them. She gazed at them for a minute, then descended to them. Lawless and Pierre rose, doffing their hats. She looked at both a moment, and her eyes settled, steadily glowing, on Pierre. Presently she held out her hand to him.

"I knew you—yesterday," she said. Pierre returned the intensity of her gaze with one deep and strong.

"So, so, Cynthie," he said. "Sit down and eat."

He dropped on a knee and drew a scum and some fish from the ashes. She sat facing them, and taking from a bag at her side some wild fruits ate slowly, saying nothing. Lawless noticed that her hair had gone gray at her temples, though she was but one and twenty years old. Her face, brown as it was, shone with a white kind of light, which may or may not have come from the crucible of her eyes, where the tragedy of her life was fusing. Lawless could not bear to look long, for the fire that consumes a body and sets free a soul is not for the sight of the quick. At last she rose, her body steady, but her hands having that tremulous activity of her eyes.

"Will you not stay, Cynthie?" asked Lawless, very kindly.

She came closer to him, and after searching his eyes said with a smile that almost hurt him: "When I have found him, I will bring him to your campfire. Last night the voice said that he waits for me where the mist rises from the river at daybreak, close to the home of the white swan. Do you know where is the home of the white swan? Before the frost comes and the red wolf cries I must find him. Winter is the time of sleep. I will give him honey and dried meat. I know where we shall live together. You never saw such roses! Hush! I have a place where we can hide!"

Suddenly her gaze became fixed and dreamlike, and she said slowly, "In all time of our tribulation, in all time of our wealth, in the hour of death and in the day of judgment, good Lord, deliver us!"

"Good Lord, deliver us!" repeated Lawless in a low voice.

Without looking at them she slowly turned away and passed up the hillside, her eyes scanning the valley as before.

"Good Lord, deliver us!" again said Lawless. "Where did she get it?"

"From a book which Fingall left behind."

They watched her till she rounded a cliff and was gone. Then they shouldered their kits and passed up the river on the trail of the wapiti.

One month later, when a fine white surf of frost lay on the ground and the sky was darkened often by the flight of the wild geese southward, they came upon a hut perched on a bluff at the edge of a clump of pines. It was morning, and White Faced mountain shone solemnly clear, without a touch of cloud or mist from its haunches to its crown.

They knocked at the hut door, and in answer to a voice entered. The sunlight streamed in over a woman lying upon a heap of dried flowers in a corner and a man kneeling beside her.

They came near and saw that the woman was Cynthie.

Then Pierre broke out suddenly, "Fingall!" and caught the kneeling man by the shoulder. At the sound of his voice the woman's eyes opened.

"Fingall! Oh, Fingall!" she said and reached up a hand.

The bearded man stooped and caught her to his breast.

"Cynthie! Poor girl! Oh, my poor Cynthie!" he said.

In his eyes, as in hers, was a same light, and his voice, as hers, said indescribable things.

Her head sank upon his shoulder, her eyes closed. She was asleep. Fingall laid her down, with a sob in his throat. Then he sat up and clutched Pierre's hand.

"In the east, where the doctors cured me, I heard," he said, pointing to her, "and I came to find her. I was just in time. I found her yesterday."

"And she knew you?" whispered Pierre.

"Yes, but the fever came hard after. He turned and looked at her, and, kneeling, smoothed away the hair from the smiling, pathetic face. "Poor girl!" he said. "Poor girl!"

"She will get well?" asked Pierre.

"God grant it!" Fingall replied.

"She is better—better."

Lawless and Pierre softly turned and stole away, leaving the man alone with the girl.

The two stood in silence, looking upon the river beneath. Presently a voice crept through the stillness. "Fingall! Oh, Fingall! Fingall!"

It was the voice of a woman returning from the dead.

THE END.

Hurrying Him Up.

"Jack," said a pretty girl to her brother the other day, "I want you to do something for me—that's a good fellow."

"Well, what is it?" growled Jack, who is the brother of the period.

"Why, you know, that wig and mustache you used in the theatricals?"

"Well?"

"Well, won't you just put them on and go to the concert tonight? Reginald and I will be there, and Jack, I want you to stare at me the whole evening through your glasses."

"What! You want me to do that?"

"Yes, and as we come out you must stand at the door and try to slip me a note. Take care that Reggie sees you too."

"Well, I declare!"

"Because, you see, Jack, Reggie likes me, I know, but then he is awfully slow, and he's well off, and lots of other girls are after him, and he's got to be hurried up, as it were."—London Tit-Bits.

The Empress and the Swallows.

Swallows invariably arrive in Austria March 25, and leave Sept. 8 for a milder climate. During a sojourn of the Austrian empress at her daughter's (the Archduchess Marie Valerie) castle of Lichtenegg, near Wels, in upper Austria, her majesty took a great interest in some swallows which had actually built their nests on the large chandelier of the grand parlor in the castle. This nest was so peculiarly built around the main branch of the chandelier that even the chain for raising and lowering the chandelier could be used without in any way affecting the comfort of the swallows. On her majesty's seeing the manner in which these swallows had built their nest she was greatly delighted, as it is supposed to bring good luck. She gave strict orders that the birds should not be disturbed, notwithstanding the fact that their presence was ruining a valuable carpet and doing much damage generally.—Vienna Letter.

HAS A HARD HEAD.

The Giraffe's Demeanor Is Like a Sledge Hammer.

"Speaking of knockers," said Ed Coyne, who for the last ten years has been keeper of Daisy, the giant giraffe at the Cincinnati zoo, "do you know that the giraffe is the original and natural knocker? Look at that long, slender neck, and the lumpy, bony head at the end of it. It reminds you of a sledge-hammer, and that is what it is in fact. When Daisy gets excited she begins knocking; that is, she throws her head from side to side, using it like a hammer and dealing fearful blows with certain aim. If any other person beside myself should enter her stall he would get a blow from her head that would knock him senseless, and then she would trample and kick him to death. The animal has but a small brain and can not be reasoned with. The only way to get along with her is to be quiet and not get her excited. I can do about as I please with her. I enter the stall at all times, feed her, and brush her off every day. She is a clean beast, and gives but little trouble. A new keeper would have a hard time with her, as she knows me and will not let a stranger do anything for her."

The observant beast was standing at the other end of the stall, looking out of the window at a man who was walking on the hotel porch, but on hearing her name called out, she came over and stuck her head out of the wire lattice and looked at the keeper with a bright look in her face. Daisy is the largest giraffe in captivity. She and her departed partner were bought by the zoo fourteen years ago. There was one offspring, but it died a few days after birth.

IT WAS AN AWFUL SHOCK.

Not so Much the Coincidence as the Actual Return of the Fifteen Dollars.

"Here is one of the odd coincidences of this life," said Williams. "Some time ago an acquaintance came to me and told me he was in great need of $15, and at considerable trouble to myself I let him have it. He promised to return it in a few days."

"When three weeks had elapsed I mentioned the matter to him casually and he was profusely apologetic—would send it to me the following day sure. It didn't come, though, nor did I get any word from him. About two weeks after I met him in Broadway. He declared it was a shame I hadn't got my money and vowed he wouldn't let another day pass without paying me."

It went along, then, for a week or ten days, and as my expenses were very heavy, I was considerably embarrassed and needed the money badly. One night, when I was feeling particularly discouraged, I sat down and wrote him a note. I said: "My dear sir—About six weeks ago I loaned you $15. Lest the paying of it should occasion you any inconvenience allow me to hereby make you a present of the money."

"That will bring it if anything will, thought I. Judge my surprise when by the next morning's mail I received a letter from the man inclosing the $15. By the same mail exactly he must have received mine making him a present of it, and by the dates both letters were evidently written at about the same hour."

A Case of Spontaneous Ignition.

The fact is well known that petroleum spirit, or benzine, is largely used in the silk and wool industries and in chemical cleaning works as a solvent for greasy impurities. It is extremely volatile and inflammable, and has often been suspected of being the cause of those mysterious fires which occasionally break out in works and factories where it is much used. One who has studied this phenomenon declares that the ignition of this spirit is spontaneous, and is caused by electrical excitation—that is, in certain states of the atmosphere, the spirit becomes excited and exhibits sparks and flashes of light, to the accompaniment of crackling sounds, and the ignition of the spirit may take place at any moment.

J. A. Richardson, of Jefferson City, Mo., chief Enrolling force 38th general assembly of Missouri, writes: I wish to testify to the merits of One Minute Cough Cure. When other so-called cures failed. I obtained almost instant relief and a speedy cure by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. C. D. Stevens.

BETTER THAN A GOLD MINE.

Last month I cleared, after paying all expenses, $235.38; the month before $186.26 and have at the same time attracted to my regular business. I believe anyone, anywhere, can do as well, as I have not a particularly good location and not much experience. When you have an article that every family wants, it is very easy selling it. It seems strange that a good, cheap dish washer was never before placed on the market. With the Perfection, which sells for $5 you can wash and dry the dishes for a family in two minutes, without putting the hands in water. As soon as people see the washer work, they want one, and that is why so much money can be made so quickly. For full particulars address The Perfection Mfg. Co. Station O, Evanston, Ill. I feel convinced that any lady or gentleman, in any location can make $5 to $10 a day, as every family will very soon have a dish washer. Try it and publish your experience for the benefit of others. ALL E.O.

He Loved Dogs.

Monsieur X called the other day at a house where the love of dogs was carried almost to a mania. He was immediately surrounded by half a dozen of these animals, whose caresses, too demonstrative altogether, he repelled vigorously. "Ah, monsieur," said the lady of the mansion, in a tone of displeasure, "one can see very well that you don't love dogs." "Not love dogs indeed!" he returned, indignantly. "Why, I ate more than twenty dogs during the siege of Paris!"

SEVERE EXPOSURE

Often results in colds, fevers, rheumatism, neuralgia and kindred derangements. We do not "catch cold" if we are in good condition. If the liver is active, and the system in consequence doing its duty, we live in full health and enjoy life "rain or shine." To break up a cold there's nothing so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They keep the whole system regulated in a perfectly natural way. If we do not feel happy, if we worry and grumble, if we are morbid, if the days seem dreary and long, if the weather is bad, if things go awry, it is the liver which is at fault. It is generally "torpid." A common sense way is to take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. We generally eat too much, take insufficient exercise, by means of which our tissue-changes become indolent and incomplete. Be comfortable—you are comfortable when well. You'll be well when you have taken "Pleasant Pellets." No Constipation follows their use. Put up sealed in glass—always fresh and reliable.

FOR SALE A Model Milling Plant.

The recent death of the owner makes the sale of this plant necessary. It consists of a flouring mill, packing-storage house and two elevators. The mill is 6x66 feet, four stories and basement constructed of stone, brick and frame, the frame part being iron-clad. Capacity 300 barrels per day. The storage-packing house is 30x120 feet two stories. The elevators each have a capacity of 30,000 and 50,000 bushels. A branch railway track runs between the mill and packing-storage house. This plant was built, remodeled and made new in 1891. The business of this plant has paid the owner, up to his death, from $8,000 to $24,000 per year. This plant cost over $80,000 and is the finest one in the northwest. It is run by water power and situated in Janesville, Wis. except the large elevator which is at Lake Preston, S. D. There is no encumbrance and it will be sold upon easy terms or can be exchanged for first-class real estate.

CALIFORNIA'S CLIMATE.

One of its Peculiarities Is that Natural Ice Is Practically Unknown.

The New York Times calls attention to the fact that, while Florida lies between the parallels of 25 and 31 degrees north latitude, every part of California is in a higher latitude, the southern boundary being the thirty-second parallel and the state extending as far north as the forty-second degree, and yet all along the coast the weather this winter has been milder than in Florida, which lies nearer the equator than the most southerly portion of southern California. It must be that the great Pacific ocean, with the temperature of its waters modified by the great Kuro Sirro, or Japanese gulf stream, is responsible for the mildness of the climate of the coast. In the interior, particularly in the mountain regions of the state, there is a great deal of snow and cold weather, but not along the coast, and it is remarkable to see how far the mild coast climate extends eastward and inland, says the San Francisco Examiner. Not until the warm wave from the ocean is met and counteracted by the chill of the snow-clad Sierra is there a degree of cold experienced which is in any respect worth considering.

CRUELTY OF SCIENCE.

The Torturing of Dumb Brutes Is Unnecessary and Revolting.

It is difficult to overestimate the value of a knowledge gained by the cutting and tearing of living animals. One interesting experiment is to remove a dog's stomach and then ascertain how he can live without it, says Life. We also learn from the Journal of Zoophy that in Philadelphia there is a Dr. Watson, who experimented upon 141 dogs by raising them to a height and dropping them upon ridges and bars of iron, in order to test the effect of the painful bruises and the breaking of the backs, which were the result. There is also a Dr. Phelps, who selected a number of dogs, and, after twisting their legs over their backs, thus placing them in an excessively cramped and unnatural position, sealed them up in plaster of paris, which prevented them obtaining any relief. What pleasant neighbors this Watson and Phelps must have been as boys! They could probably get as much fun out of cats and dogs then as they do now. Life is looking forward to the day when these adult brutes will be treated like other criminals.

An Unfortunate Little Girl.

As pure, as pale, as sweet as the first snowdrop which comes in the spring is little Florence. Tap, tap, tap go the little crutches from one bed to another. The little hands smooth a pillow here, hand a glass of water there; numberless questions from the querulous little patients are answered by the patient child, who never herself complains, but, like a small sister, goes continually about doing good. She is only twelve years old, very diminutive and frail, with brown eyes and hair, and a tender, sensitive mouth. Two years ago Florence was laid in the sisters' arms by her father. He had carried her all the way from their home in the lumber region of Arkansas, and as he resigned his precious burden he told how the dear mother had been laid away beneath the sod, and only little Florence was left him in all the world to love. Since the good sisters have had the care of her Florence has improved until now she is able, with the aid of her new crutches, to walk quite well.

"Would you not like a pretty doll?" was asked her.

"Oh, yes! I should indeed!" she says, while a flush creeps into her pale face. "My papa says he will buy me one—some day—and see! he has sent me all these!"

A little box is brought forth, and carefully treasured between letters ill-spelled and crudely written, yet breathing the tenderest love; there is a piece of blue ribbon, such as is used in tying bolts of cloth in stores, a gilt picture with a brand of muslin on it, some pressed leaves and wild flowers, a bit of red satin, and a few picture cards.

Florence has always lived only among grown people, and the delight of having friends of her own age is unknown to her. I wonder what she would think of getting some letters from little girls? And any one who prizes so richly a dear father's gifts would certainly appreciate—say a lovely doll and some picture books. Don't you think so?

The Boy King of Spain.

There are many points in the court etiquette of Spain that make it hard to be a boy king and harder still to be the boy king's loving mother. As he was born a king little Alfonso had to have a household of his own, with his own suite of rooms. He can not even dine at the same table with his mother, nor can she perform for him those tender little offices that mothers delight in and children find so comforting. The little king has also to go through with tedious state receptions, which weary him sadly, and sometimes try his childish patience beyond endurance. Once at a grand church function the baby sat upon his nurse's knee all dressed in white, as patient as a baby could be. A bishop had been holding forth for a good hour, and everybody was doubtless waiting for him to close. At last the little royal listener could bear it no longer, for he is a high-strung little man, and with a glance of indignant despair in the direction of the talker he clutched at his own pretty white hat and cast it upon the floor. When his nobles were paying their compliments to him on his second birthday their king entertained himself by jumping up and down the steps of his throne.

Tattooing Is in Vogue.

Tattooing has, at the moment, a certain vogue among many ladies of light and leading—partly from its decorative aspect. Lady Randolph Churchill is one of the pictorially punctured—a finely tattooed serpent being traced on her arm, whose presence is usually concealed by a broad gold bracelet. The tattooing was done by a soldier on a return voyage from India, and the symbolic snake is colored in red, green and blue.

Our patrons will find De Witt's Little Early Risers, a safe and reliable remedy for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaints. C. D. Stevens.

A Model Friend.

What true friendship consists in depends on the temperament of the man who has a friend. It is related that at the funeral of M. X., who died extremely poor, the usually cold-blooded Squire Tightfist was much affected.

"You thought a great deal of him, I suppose," some one asked him.

"Thought a great deal of him? I should think I did. There was a true friend! He never asked me to lend him a cent, though I knew well enough he was starving to death."

But Didn't Catch Him.

"That old speckled hen of mine is the best egg producer I ever saw, but lately we've been unable to get any from her nest—it was always empty."

"What was the cause?"

"Well, a few days ago I saw a dog leaving the nest with an egg in his mouth."

"Ah, that was the trouble—she'd been laying for a squaker, as it were."

Nervous, Private and Chronic Diseases of Men and Women.

Dr. Sharp has for 20 years made a Special Study and Practice of these Maladies which have proved such stumbling blocks to the medical profession. More failures are recorded in these three lines of practice than in all the 1000 remaining diseases to which the human race is subject.

The doctor's success is phenomenal in his chosen field.

He Absolutely Cures 98
per cent of the cases he accepts for treatment.

This high percentage is in part due to his rejection of all incurable ones. So there are no experiments and but few failures.

YOUNG MEN troubled with results of younger indiscretions can be safely and surely cured. I know it.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN can have a new lease of vitality.

OLD MEN can take a new hold on life and its joys.

WOMEN can find not only relief but positive cure for their many annoying and dangerous ailments. Leucorrhea, Painful Menstruation, Delayed or Obstructed Menstrual Periods, Headaches, Ovarian Inflammation, Etc.

FREE TREATMENT.

FACTS WORTH CONSIDERING!

The use of ice, once regarded as a luxury, has become almost universally an imperative necessity. To make this ice the most servicable, a refrigerator is needed. The qualities sought for in a

Refrigerator are Preservation

of perishable food and an economical use office. The economical use of ice depends entirely upon the Principle Involved, the Construction of the Refrigerator and in utilizing all the cold air.

No other Refrigerator keeps the air so long in contact with the ice as the does, consequently the Alaska does its work more thoroughly than any other Refrigerator.

ALASKA
